“Teraz Wrocław” Project
“Teraz Wrocław” (“Now Wrocław”) is a non-commercial project created on the initiative of the Wrocław universities and the Municipality of Wrocław. It is focused on attracting future students and graduates from the countries of Eastern Europe and on enabling them training and further employment in the city. The project assistants provide free of charge the information on opportunities and procedures of entering high schools in Wrocław and assist the Eastern European citizen wishing to receive a higher education.

The “Teraz Wrocław” office, located at the Wrocław University of Economics, invites you to study in the public and private universities and high schools of the city. The “Teraz Wrocław” project participates annually in many educational fairs and presentations, and promotes various international initiatives in the field of education.

We support students and assist them with any issues regarding studying, living and residing in Wrocław during the initial stage of training. We also provide individual consultations on:

- studies
- choosing the program of training
- official registration of papers
- visa issues
- health insurance
- opportunities of employment in Wrocław’s companies and businesses

Our employees speak Russian, Ukrainian, Polish and English languages. We hope you will be interested in the offer of the “Teraz Wrocław” project.

Republic of Poland

Area: 312,685 square kilometers

Location: Central Europe. Poland shares borders with Germany, the Czech Republic, Slovakia, Ukraine, Belarus, Lithuania and Russia. Its northern border runs along the Baltic Sea and is 440 kilometers long.

Capital city: Warsaw (1.6 million)

Population: 38.23 million

Flag: White and red

Official language: Polish

Political system: Parliamentary democracy. In May 2004, Poland became a member of the European Union.

Country

Poland is situated in the center of Europe and covers 312,685 square kilometers, making it the ninth largest country in Europe. 91.3 percent of its territory lies 300 meters above sea level. Poland has a varied landscape: the coastal plains along the Baltic Sea; lake districts in the north; lowlands in central Poland; highlands and rugged mountain ranges in the south. The highest peaks are found in the Tatra Mountains, which are part of the Carpathians. The Sudety are the highest mountains in southwestern Poland. The longest rivers are the Vistula (1,047 km), Odra (854 km), Warta and Bug. Poland has some 9,300 lakes with surface areas of over one hectare.

Europe’s geographic center is located near Warsaw. (This is the intersection point of lines running north-south from Nordkyn in Norway to the Matapan Cape in Greece, and east-west from Cabo da Roca in Portugal to the central Urals.)

The country is divided into 16 provinces (known also as voivodships, from the Polish, województwa). Each province is divided administratively into districts (powiaty), and into even smaller local government units (known as gminy).
The main historic and geographic regions of Poland:

- Małopolska (Lesser Poland), located in the southeastern corner of the country.
- Mazowsze i Podlasie (Mazovia and Podlassia), situated in the central and eastern parts of the country.
- Mazury (Masuria), the country’s northeastern lake district.
- Pomorze (Pomerania), Poland’s northern Baltic Sea Coast.
- Śląsk (Silesia), located in the southwestern part of Poland.
- Wielkopolska (Greater Poland), running west from central Poland.

UNESCO World Heritage Sites in Poland:

- Wieliczka Salt Mines
- Cracow’s Historic Center
- Białowieża Forest
- Nazi Concentration Camp of Auschwitz-Birkenau
- Warsaw’s Historic Center
- Old City of Zamość
- Medieval Town of Toruń
- Malbork’s Gothic Castle of the Teutonic Order
- The unique monastic complex and pilgrimage park in Kalwaria Zebrzydowska
- The Churches of Peace in Jawor and Świdnica
- The wooden Churches of southern Małopolska
- Centenary Hall (Hala Ludowa) in Wrocław

Climate

Poland has a moderate climate with both maritime and continental influences. Generally, in northern and western Poland the climate is predominantly maritime, while the eastern part of the country has a distinctly continental climate with harsh winters and hotter, drier summers. The long-awaited summer, with temperatures above 20 degrees Celsius, begins in May and lasts for about four months. The hottest month is July with average temperatures ranging from 16–19 degrees Celsius. Central and southwest regions of Poland tend to be the warmest parts in the country. On hot days between May and September, temperatures can exceed 25 degrees Celsius. The coldest month in Poland is January when frigid continental air flows in from Siberia making the eastern part of Poland one of the coldest areas in the country. Sub-zero temperatures are regularly recorded between November and March.
Explore the Region
One of the lures of life in Wrocław is the easy access the city offers to the historic sites and unspoiled nature of the surrounding province of Lower Silesia. Whether you want to pop out of town for an evening meal and a drive through the countryside, or pack up and spend a weekend away from home with the family without getting on a plane, Lower Silesia offers everything from rugged mountains to pristine lakes; from castles and monasteries to swank health resorts. Once outside the city, you can visit historic monuments of international acclaim, including the two Churches of Peace that were added to UNESCO’s World Heritage List in 2001. You can also follow the Cistercian Trail that leads to the ornate abbeys of Henryków, Lubiąż or Krzeszów, the latter of which is also expected to be recognized as an official world heritage site. The Lower Silesia landscape is dotted with more than 160 castles and palaces. Some have been carefully restored and transformed into classy hotels and conference centers, while others function as museums, which take visitors on fascinating journeys into the past.
The beautiful Sudety Mountains can be reached in 1.5 hours by car from Wroclaw. All year round the Sudety’s peaks and trails tempt lovers of hiking, biking, skiing, rock climbing and paragliding. The dramatic rock formations and beautiful vistas make the mountains a perfect destination for active holiday enthusiasts. But the hidden treasures of Lower Silesia are its natural springs and health spas that have brought tourists to the region for centuries. Elegant and ornately decorated hotel complexes and pump rooms attract spa-goers from near and far who seek respite or convalescence in unique natural settings. Rural tourism, known locally as agrotourism, has undergone a veritable boom over the last decade. Farmers across Lower Silesia have revamped their properties and created inviting guesthouses that offer city dwellers quaint retreats to escape the hustle and bustle of urban life. Situated in some of the most beautiful corners of the region, these small rural hotels provide visitors with a perfect base to explore Lower Silesia’s rich heritage, while affording them a unique opportunity to experience Polish hospitality first hand, and get to know the cuisine of the region.

Celebrate Culture!

For more than a half a century, Wroclaw has forged an international reputation for its lively cultural events. Starting in the 1960s, the city became the world capital of avantgarde theater thanks to Jerzy Grotowski’s Laboratory Theater, Henryk Tomaszewski’s Pantomime Theater and the International Open Theater Festival.

Today, as in the past, Wroclaw is a city that celebrates culture. Whether you are an aficionado of the fine arts and theater, or you enjoy street festivals and hip galleries, you won’t be bored in Wroclaw.

The musical traditions of the city where Chopin, Brahms and Paganini gave concerts are still alive today. Annually, the Wratislavia Cantans festival attracts large numbers of discerning classical music fans from around the world. Wroclaw also continues to make headlines for its presentations of “super productions” of classic operas in atypical venues. In 2004, the Wroclaw Opera Company drew more than 30,000 spectators when it staged Gioconda on the Odra River. Performances of Aida, La Traviata and The Ring of the Nibelung also played to sell-out crowds in the historic Centenary Hall, which holds an audience of 5,000.

But Wroclaw’s annual cultural fare is constantly being augmented and enriched by fresh initiatives. A new addition to the city’s cultural calendar is the festival wroclawnonstop. During this two-week cultural marathon, the city is transformed into a vast stage for a full range of the performing and plastic arts, which are presented by local artists as well as specially invited talent from Poland and around the world.
Wrocław – Getting Out

Getting Out
Day or night, Wrocław pulses with life. With so many thriving, dynamic companies based in Wrocław along with the large pool of young professionals and students living in the city, the demand for quality entertainment activities is high. The historic center of town serves as a magnet for visitors and residents alike. More than 150 restaurants, cafes and pubs can be found in and around the Market Square alone. The round-the-clock street life is particularly vibrant from late spring through early autumn when outdoor cafes and restaurants fill up with local residents and tourists. Even the neighborhoods off the Market Square are becoming increasingly popular, such as the area surrounding old White Stork Synagogue. Apart from featuring a large multi-cinema complex, nearby Włodkowica Street is becoming a popular place for galleries, fashionable boutiques, cafes and restaurants. As Poland’s trendiest city, Wrocław is increasingly being dubbed by the press and the vox populi as the country’s entertainment capital. Year round, Wrocław is a town that never sleeps. And with restaurants specializing in a variety of international cuisines, even the pickiest of eaters will quickly discover a new favorite haunt. If you don’t want to club hop after a good meal you can always catch the latest film at one of several popular movie theaters conveniently situated across the city, including two large state-of-the-art multiplex cinemas. Foreign films can be seen in their original language versions with subtitles or dubbed in Polish.
Wrocław – The Active Life

The Active Life
Wrocław is an extraordinarily verdant city in part due to its riverfront location. In fact, with more than a third of Wrocław taken up by parks and open spaces, it’s the greenest city in Poland. With so much nature available within the city limits, leading an active lifestyle is not difficult in Wrocław. In the near future, fans of golf will be able to take advantage of three golf facilities in Wrocław and its immediate environs, including an 18-hole course just to the north of the city that is expected to host world-class tournaments and attract premier international golfers to the city. Swimming pools, fitness clubs and solariums are available in most neighborhoods across the city making it possible to live by the popular Polish expression w zdrowym ciele zdrowy duch (in a healthy body, a healthy spirit). By 2006, central Wrocław will also be home to the fourth largest water park in Europe, which will include a wide range of pools, a hi-tech solarium and a full-service health spa. For racing enthusiasts, Wrocław’s Partynice is one of only three horse racetracks in Poland. Developed in 1905–1907, Partynice has been the focus of major investments in recent years that have restored the racing complex to its former beauty. Today the track regularly hosts a variety of horse races, sport competitions and other events making Partynice a great place to spend free time with family and friends in an amazing historic setting.
Why study with us?

Diversity and Atmosphere

For international students, study in Wroclaw offers unique access to diverse nations and cultures. With a base in southwest Poland near the German and Czech borders, students not only gain insight into the region’s multicultural heritage, they also benefit from the broad perspective available at demanding world-class educational institutions in the heart of Europe. The overall aim of the universities’ internationalization strategies is to prepare graduates to function exceedingly well in today’s information society and take active roles in open, multicultural communities around the world. Since Poland’s entry into the European Union, our universities are a part of the uniform European Area of Higher Education, which has meant greater political, economic and social consolidation and cooperation between institutions of higher learning. It also greatly facilitates the free movement of students between European countries.

Each university in Wroclaw has its own unique atmosphere and sense of community. Whether your coursework is in English or Polish, studying in Wroclaw is exciting, challenging and enjoyable.
International Cooperation

The universities in Wroclaw cooperate with many institutions of higher education across Europe. On an annual basis, Wroclaw welcome more than 950 students from the across the continent and send abroad almost 1,240 of its own Polish students to study, teach and conduct research at prestigious institutions of learning in Germany, France, Italy, Spain, Belgium, Great Britain, the Netherlands and the countries of Scandinavia.

In recent years, higher education institutions in Wroclaw have been participating actively in large European exchange programs such as Erasmus, Leonardo da Vinci, CEEPUS, and started partnership agreements in the framework of in new programs such as Erasmus Mundus.

Outside of the European Union, universities in Wroclaw have agreements with universities in India, China, Canada, USA, Russia, the Ukraine, Kazakhstan as well as many other countries around the world.
Which institutions can I choose from?

- University of Wrocław
- Wrocław University of Technology
- Wrocław University of Economics
- Wrocław University of Environmental and Life Science
- University of Lower Silesia
- Wrocław School of Banking
- The Lower Silesian College of Public Services “ASESOR”
- College of Management “Edukacja”
- Warsaw School of Social Sciences and Humanities (SWPS), Wrocław Faculty
And what if I don’t speak Polish?

Don’t worry! In recent years many students from all over the world have managed to learn Polish in even as quickly as one semester! They worked in tandems with Polish students and took Polish courses at language schools specializing in teaching Polish.

The University of Wrocław offers One Year Course for international students intending to study at Polish universities in Polish Language. Courses are organized by the School of Polish Language and Culture. Classes are held Monday to Friday for five hours a day. During the first semester are offered 485 language instructions hours, including 35 hours of knowledge about Poland. During the second semester – 375 language instructions hours, including 150 hours of specialized classes related to students’ future program chosen at the University of Wrocław.

More info:  www.sjpk.uni.wroc.pl
  sjpk@uni.wroc.pl

International students can also take a special two-week course that starts just before the beginning of each semester. One-semester courses are available from October to January and from February to June.
The Wrocław University of Technology offers a one-year course that prepares students to study at Polish universities. Polish language courses are offered over the summer as well as on a semester basis. Typically classes meet for four hours every day from Monday to Friday. Additional evening courses are available on a variety of subjects such as Mathematics, Physics, Chemistry, Biology, Geography, and History. Students not only study the history of Wrocław, but they can also explore the city and participate in different cultural events.

More info: www.snjo.pwr.wroc.pl/ofe.uk.htm

Polish courses at the University of Wrocław and the Wrocław University of Technology are open to students of other universities where language programs for international students are unavailable.

Tandem
Another way to improve your Polish is through Tandem. Polish students teach you Polish, and in exchange you teach them your native language. In this way learning times and the form and frequency of meetings depend on you and your Tandem partner. Tandem has proven a very effective way of learning for those who like meeting new people, are interested in other cultures or for those who enjoy learning a foreign language in an informal setting.
Academic calendar:
In most cases, the academic year consists of two semesters: the fall semester runs from October to mid-February; the spring semester runs from mid-February to June. Two exam sessions are held after each semester. The exact exam dates may differ slightly for each university.

Entry requirements:
Students must have a strong command of English (at least an intermediate level is required) A General Certificate of Secondary Education must be submitted for undergraduate level; a Bachelor’s or Master’s diploma are required for postgraduate studies.

Additional prerequisites depend on each particular area of study. For further details candidates should contact the International Relations Office at their school of choice in Poland.

Recognition of diplomas
Under the Lisbon Convention, diplomas and qualifications obtained at our universities will be recognized by other educational institutions across the European Union.

Student Identity Card
(legitymacja studencka)
As an international student, you will receive a Student Identity Card. It is the most important document for each student. You will need this ID card to access libraries and to be eligible for student discounts: 50% discounts are available for municipal public transport; 37% discounts on train tickets (age limit is 26); museums, theatres, cinemas and exhibitions offer 10–50% discounts as well.

Scholarships
Scholarships for EU students are offered within the framework of the LLP-Erasmus program. All international students may also apply for government scholarships offered by the Bureau for Academic Recognition and International Exchange. In addition university scholarships are available for academic excellence. For detailed information international students should contact the Polish Embassy in their home countries.

International students at the undergraduate or postgraduate level are eligible to receive the same stipends as regular Polish students.
Accommodation
All Wroclaw universities provide accommodation for Polish and international students at their own dormitories scattered around the city center.

Residence Permits
Non-EU students coming to Poland to study should apply for a Polish visa in the Polish Embassy or Consulate in their home country. Then in Poland students must apply for a temporary residence permit at least forty-five days before the expiration date of the visa. For further assistance students are strongly urged to contact the International Relations Office of their school in Poland.

More info: www.msz.gov.pl

Health and Insurance
Medical care in Poland is not free of charge. International students are recommended to buy medical insurance in their home country or immediately after their arrival in Poland. Free medical service is available for citizens of UE countries.

More info: www.nfz.gov.pl

Sports Center
In keeping with the expression “mens sana in corpore sano” [“A sound mind in a healthy body”] the Sport Center offers a variety of activities including tennis, fitness, volleyball, swimming, football, hiking, basketball as well as membership in one of the many student sports clubs.

Free Time
Wroclaw is a city of young people so you will always find something to do and ways to meet new friends! Everything is a stone’s throw away: theatres, cinemas, museums, galleries, music clubs and a multitude of different pubs. An excellent source of ideas on how to spend free time is the Junglebook, a guide written by international students themselves. With this guide you can be sure that you’ll do more than survive in Wroclaw. Enjoy!

Training specializations are strictly in line with the needs of continually changing working conditions and directed to build the European education framework.

An international perspective is in many ways important to our academic field of interest and to us. Organizations, public administration and the people working there are becoming increasingly international. Therefore we are not only expect our students to acquire international experience by going abroad during their study, but we highly value students from outside Poland, in our programme, because it brings in different perspectives and experiences.

We believe that exchange programs will create an unique opportunity for the students to expand their international contacts and get multicultural experience, as in the reality of European integration, understanding of different cultures in necessary to operate and to be successful on the market.

Being a student at the Wroclaw School of Banking means more than just “studying”. Students may pursue their interests participating in academic clubs and the student government. The School motivates students to be active by granting scholarships for leaders, WSB hike, orientation event, students’ events organized by Students’ Union, Sports competitions and events. For students WSB offer also Scientific Societies, Diving Club, Academic Sport Association (soccer, pools, chess, bicycling, bowling, snowboard and skiing).

Wroclaw School of Banking (WSB) is ten years of its existence, thanks to a dynamical development, has become a vital part of the academic life in Lower Silesia. According to the survey published in “Wprost” weekly magazine issued in 2007, WSB in Wroclaw came first among non-state, vocational higher school of management and business in Poland. It is crucial to say that WSB in Wroclaw is considered to be the best non-public higher school among the mentioned above schools. Also according to survey published in “Rzeczpospolita” and “Perspektywy” WSB is number one in Wroclaw among non state higher schools.

The Warsaw School of Social Sciences and Humanities (SWPS) was established in 1996. At present, it has more than 10,000 students studying in five faculties: psychology, philology, humanities & social sciences, and two branch-campuses faculties in Sopot and Wroclaw.

Fields of Study in English (in Warsaw):
- Psychology (MA)
- English Studies (BA)

The SWPS psychology programme was the first (and so far the only) such programme in Poland to receive a mark of distinction from the National Accreditation Committee (PKA).

SWPS applies ECTS to be recognizable, transparent and reliable partner in higher education systems all over the Europe. SWPS participates the Erasmus programme, under bilateral agreements with higher education institutions in Belgium, Cyprus, Denmark, Estonia, Germany, Greece, Finland, France, Hungary, Iceland, Italy, the Netherlands, Norway, Portugal, Slovenia, Sweden, Switzerland, Spain, Turkey, and the United Kingdom.

Together with the University of Debrecen (Hungary) and Marshall University (US), SWPS runs the Atlantis Program of exchange education in psychology.

Our college consistently ranks high in classifications of higher education institutions in Poland prepared by authoritative media sources, being a five-time winner of Wprost magazine’s top prize for academic excellence. The college has also gained excellent reviews from students and external bodies, winning the “Reliable School” and “Student-Friendly College” awards. In 2007 SWPS was declared number 2 in the ranking published by the weekly magazine Wprost and consecutively in years 2007 and 2008 in the rankings by the national daily Rzeczpospolita and the education monthly Perspektywy.

Student’s testimonial:
I like this school. I feel comfortable there and they help us in everything we need. Whatever thing I don’t know or any doubt or problem I have, I go to the Erasmus office and they help me. I can find really often somebody there.

Clara, from Valencia (Spain).
